25 YEARS OF THE STRING CHEESE INCIDENT: A THANK YOU TO THE FANS

KEITH MOSELEY: As I sit at my desk pondering what to write for this special installment of "Footprints," the word community keeps coming to mind. Somehow we have managed to carve out a niche in the music world that is unlike any other I have experienced. The combination of the band's intention and perseverance, our management's vision and guidance, and the love and enthusiasm of our fanbase has combined to create a community of exceptional people. Look around at the beautiful and positive people joining you tonight to celebrate! The Incidents we all share, feel to me, like important gatherings of bright minds and open hearts. They have become a safe place to come together and dance, and sing and laugh and cry. A place to connect with old friends and new and to share ideas and dreams.

I am humbled and thankful to be a part of the soundtrack to these events and proud to call you all my friends and family. Happy 25th! May we all have many more years together!

KYLE HOLLINGSWORTH: 25 years!?! What a blast!! I feel so lucky to have been able to connect and play music with these kindred spirits. It was a chance meeting that has changed my life. The connection and synergy we feel on stage is a circle of energy that deeply connects with our fans. Without you guys, we would never be complete. So with that, we thank you for these 25 years! Let us play on for many more!

MICHAEL KANG: Dearest SCI Family Freekers... hard to believe that it's been 25 years to say the least! I've personally been flooded with memories of all the shenanigans that have taken place, but one in particular sticks out in my mind. To this day, one of my favorite Incidents was when we convinced The Cliff Lodge at Snowbird to let us play there for 3 days. It proceeded to dump, and the mix of skiing powder all day and then raging at the shows was truly a once in a lifetime experience! Needless to say, we haven't been invited back... hmmm. Thanks for an incredible 25 years! We love you!

MICHAEL TRAVIS: Any attempt to encapsulate what the 25 years of being in this band means would fall short. Holy Wow! What an honor to get to play with these amazing people and musicians. It's been an incredible and humbling odyssey. Interacting so deeply with my brothers in the band has changed me for the better in so many wonderful ways, and having you wonderful people who have allowed us to live/co-create this dream are beyond words. Thank you.

JASON HANN: Sending out a big thanks to all of the SCI fans and community for all of the years of support. After my first soundcheck with SCI back in 2004 at Telluride Town Park, I was walking away from the stage and remember one particular fan saying "greetings," or "welcome," or something really nice regarding my playing with SCI. I took note and saw him at shows, always smiling, always psyched for every aspect of an Incident, and weirdly, always "dead front, dead center." Chris Gewald ended up becoming a great friend and showed me the power that the fans have on the scene surrounding a musical act. It has always been obvious to me - from my first few Incidents till today - SCI fans are a truly special group of people, and we can't do any of this without ya! You guys make a difference that the rest of us are thankful for!!!

BILL NERSHI: "THE PSILOCYBIN OIL-SPOTTING INCIDENT"

Somewhere in the Midwest in the middle of another endless tour, with nothing better to do, I ate some mushrooms. Along I-80, driving Bussy across vast flatlands, we encountered a mechanical problem and pulled off at a rest stop. Travis slid underneath the bus to check it out. After 20 minutes with no progress, I picked up my mandolin and walked around barefoot picking a little tune, enjoying the summer day. What a nice buzz I thought. I stepped into the restroom to relieve myself then walked back out. I looked over to where the bus had been parked, rubbed my eyes and took another glance. I thought...are my eyes playing tricks on me? Noooo, the bus was gone. I was left holding my mandolin, barefoot and tripping on the side of the road. All this was in the mid-1990s before the use of cell phones. When you're left behind and the bus leaves, it's called being "oil-spotted". Thus, the "psilocybin oil-spotting incident" occurred. I talked to an elderly couple driving a Winnebago and said, "If you see a large white bus with aspen leaves painted on the side, ask them to take a head count". Miraculously the couple stopped for gas, further down the road, and did see Bussy. After a couple hours of wandering around the rest area, through streaming tears of joy, I saw the band returning to collect their wayward minstrel. I climbed onto Bussy and we were down the road headed to our next show. I want to thank everyone who has supported us over the years. I'm proud of our fan base who know how to take care of themselves and others around them while having a pretty damn good time. I also want to thank my wife and daughters, and all the SCI families for their support. Now it's time to celebrate!! Lots of love to all of you.

Location: Arvada, CO

Favorite Songs: Joyful Sound, Got What He Wanted, Let's Go Outside, Black and White.

Favorite Venues: Red Rocks, NYE Shows, Mt Shasta, Horning's Hideout

Favorite Memory Over The Years: During the first Horning's Hideout in the summer of 2000 - AKA the 'Full Moon Dream Dance' - we were participants in a "Living Dream Experiment," set in a magical oasis in the woods, complete with live peacocks! We gathered from all over the country to become a new tribe. We were all encouraged to participate and become a star in our own movie. A collective consciousness in costume, we danced to the rhythms as part of a magical gathering for the ages. We made props together, we became part of the musical ceremonies and rituals themselves. Eye was there to capture all the shenanigans that weekend on canvas, along with fellow artist Michael Everett. It was a painting frenzy! Shay and Eye had found "our band and tribe" to create with. Eye have had so many wonderful and inspiring times with SCI, from my first Incident on May 1st, 1999 at Tipitina's in New Orleans, to now over 175 different live experiences and paintings that have been created over so many moons... more than Eye have done with any other band. Happy 25th orbits around the sun for my friends The String Cheese Incident!
